

Cookie Policy

Introduction

Dot Lib Professional Information Ltd. ("Company") refers to the global organization and may refer to one or more entities of the Company. The data controller who collects and processes the personal information provided by a site visitor dotlib.com.

Scope

This cookie policy, set out below, aims to describe the practices we follow to respect the privacy of all visitors to our site.

In this policy, personal information means data related to an individual that identifies that individual, directly or indirectly, as their name or contact information.

If you have any questions about the processing of your personal information on our website, please contact us by sending an email to the following address: lgpd@dotlib.com.

Our website uses cookies to improve performance and improve your browsing experience. Certain areas of Our Site also use cookies to understand more about you, so we can offer a more personalized browsing experience.

What is a Cookie?

A cookie is a technology that allows our website to store information tokens (an 'identifier') in your browser, used only by our website. Cookies are not used to determine the personal identity of those who are just visiting our website. They serve to help us track traffic patterns, to determine a user's preferred location and language, so that we can direct them to the correct country homepage when they visit Our Site. These cookies are set by us and called first-party cookies.

On certain pages of our website, cookies are used to help us track your interests while you browse the Internet, so that we can customize more relevant ads and understand what is important to you.

We also use third-party cookies - which are cookies from a domain other than our Site domain - for our advertising and marketing efforts.

How do you disable Cookies?

We will let you know when you visit our websites what types of cookies we use and how to disable such cookies. When required by law, you will have the ability to visit our websites and refuse the use of cookies at any time on your computer. For more details, see our Cookies policies.

You can also configure your browser to accept or delete cookies before they are installed as appropriate. You can also regularly remove cookies from your terminal through your browser.

However, please be aware that if You disable cookies in your browser, you will not have a complete experience on Our Site. For example, you may not benefit from automatic sign-in and other personalization features of Our Site.

If you do not wish to receive a cookie from our website, you have several options, such as opting out of them or disabling those that would have been installed on your terminal. You can make the choice at any time to express and modify your wishes with respect to cookies, by the means described below.

Also note that you should not forget to configure all browsers on your different devices (tablets, smartphones, computers). There are several ways to set up browsers, so see the "Help" section of the browser you are using to understand how to set it up and put your options.

Especially in relation to audience measurement cookies, you can also disable them as follows:

- For more information on setting cookies: <http://www.aboutcookies.org/>
- For "Google Analytics" cookies, you can download the module accessible from the following address to disable these cookies: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout/>
- For Internet Explorer™: https://support.microsoft.com/en-gb/help/17442/windows-internet-explorer-delete-manage-cookies?ocid=IE10_about_cookies
- For Safari™: http://support.apple.com/kb/HT1677?viewlocale=en_US
- For Chrome™: <https://support.google.com/chrome/answer/95647?hl=en> ;
- For Firefox™: <https://support.mozilla.org/en-US/kb/enable-and-disable-cookies-website-preferences>
- For Opera™: <http://help.opera.com/Windows/10.20/en/cookies.htm>

What Cookies do we use?

More specifically, we use cookies and other tracking technologies for the following purposes:

- Help you in navigation.
- Assist in recording our events, login, and your ability to provide feedback.
- Analyze your use of our products, services, or applications.
- Measure website usage (statistics and video player)
- Facilitate sharing on social networks.
- Help with our promotional and marketing efforts (including behavioral advertising) to deliver content that is most relevant to you and your interests.

The cookies used by Our Site perform four functions, as below:

- Essential/Strictly Necessary Cookies
- Performance Cookies
- Functional Cookies
- Targeting and Tracking Cookies

Essential/Strictly Necessary Cookies

Some cookies we use are essential to the operation of our website. They are usually defined only in response to actions you take, which is equivalent to a service request, such as setting your privacy preferences, logging in, or filling out forms. You can configure your browser to block them or alert you about these cookies, but some parts of the site may not work.

Performance Cookies

Some cookies help us with the performance and design of our website. This allows us to measure how many times a page has been visited and know which pages are the most and least popular and see how visitors move around the site. All information that these cookies collect is anonymous. If you do not allow these cookies, we will not know when you have visited our website.

Functional Cookies

Some cookies help us remember your settings that you may have selected or help with other features when you browse and use Our Site. This helps us remember what you selected, so when you return, we remember your preferences.

These cookies allow you to provide enhanced functionality and customization. They may be defined by us or by third party providers whose services we have added to our pages. If you do not allow these cookies, some or all these features may not work correctly.

Targeting and Tracking Cookies

These cookies are set through our website by our advertising partners. They can be used by these companies to create a profile of their interests and display relevant ads on other sites. They work by uniquely identifying your browser and device. If you do not allow these cookies, you will not experience our targeted advertising on different websites.

These cookies collect information related to the origin of your visit, where you have been exposed to the Company's advertising, what advertising feature you have seen, whether you have directly or indirectly reached Our Site, the device used to visit Our Site and what downloads you have made. This information is collected anonymously through third-party vendors.

In addition, we also use cookies on certain pages of Our Site to communicate with third-party data providers to expand their digital behavior. This helps us understand and target more relevant ads in the future. The information we receive is all aggregated and anonymous, but includes statistics such as demographics, online behavior, product interests, and lifestyle. Targeting and tracking cookies are provided by trusted third-party vendors. If you need more information about our suppliers and how these cookies operate, please contact us by sending an email to the following address: lgpd@dotlib.com.

Changes to this Cookie Policy

The Company may change this cookie policy statement, as necessary. If policy changes are made, please note that it may take up to 30 business days for new privacy practices to be implemented.

If we make any significant changes to this policy, we will post a notice on our website when the changes take effect and, if so, we will send you a direct communication about the change.

Contact Us

If you have questions or do not think that your concerns have been addressed in this Cookie Policy, please contact our Group Data Protection Officer at the following email address: lgpd@dotlib.com.